Land of Cuestas & World Paleontopolis

About Khorat Global Geopark

Khorat UNESCO Global Geopark, Thailand's second UNESCO Global Geopark, was designated in 2023. Khorat UGGp is recognized for its fossils (dinosaurs, petrified wood, ancient elephants), distinctive landscape, and natural and cultural heritage. It covers an area of 3,167 km² in five districts of Nakhon Ratchasima Province: Mueang, Sikhio, Sung Noen, Kham Thale So, and Chaloem Phra Kiat.

“Land of Cuesta and Paleontopolis.”

Highlight

A Fossil Legacy

Home of dinosaurs and ancient elephants.

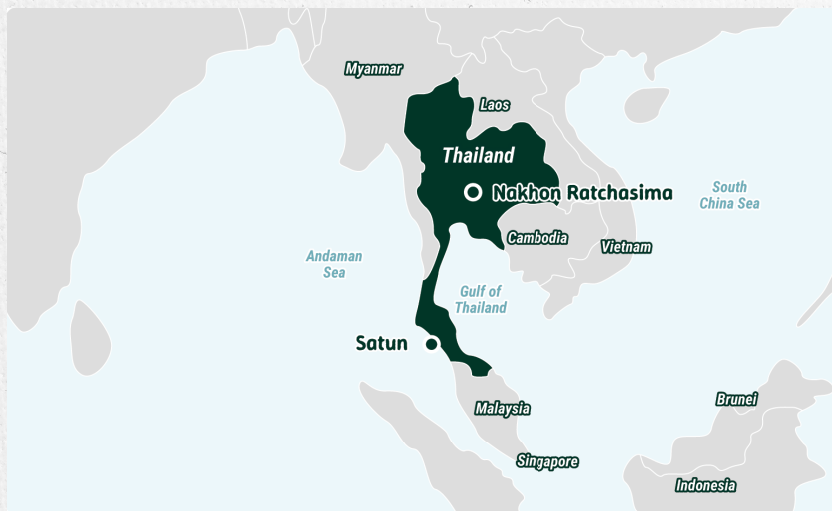

Travel Made Simple

A well-connected infrastructure.

Panoramic Beauty

Striking cliffs and sweeping vistas.

The Khorat Geopark is a UNESCO Global Geopark in Nakhon Ratchasima Province, Thailand. It is internationally recognized as a UNESCO-designated site, similar to the Dong Phrayayen-Khao Yai Forest Complex (World Heritage Site) and the Sakaerat Environmental Research Station (Biosphere Reserve), which serve as practical learning centers for appreciation and conservation of geological, natural, and cultural heritage, sustainable development, and climate change education.

The Geopark's landscape is defined by its prominent cuesta landforms and its location within the Lam Takhong basin. Geologically, it is famous for its rich fossil deposits. These deposits provide crucial evidence of the area's evolutionary history dating back millions of years.

Triple Heritage City

Nakhon Ratchasima Province has three UNESCO earth heritage sites.

How to Get Here

From Bangkok:

- A. By Car: 3–4 hrs via Mittraphap Road.
- B. By Train: Bangkok Nakhon Ratchasima (4–5 hrs).
- C. By Bus: From Mochit Bus Terminal (4–5 hrs).

Getting Around:

Rent a car or motorbike for flexibility. Local taxis and “songthaew” (shared pickup trucks) are also available.

Travel Tip

Avoid national holidays if you want quieter trails. Weekdays are the best for calm views and fewer crowds.

1. Paleontopolis Route

1 Khorat Fossil Museum and Petrified Forest

Explore Khorat's paleontological heritage at this complex of three specialized museums. See vast petrified wood deposits and exhibits on the Ancient Elephant and Dinosaurs. It is your starting point for understanding Khorat's geological history and prehistoric life

2 Chaloe Phra Kiat Sandpit

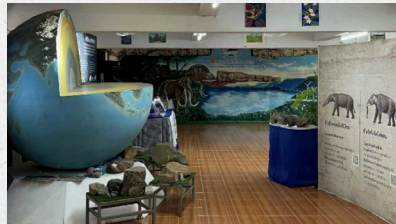

The sandpit exposes a 30-meter-thick deposit of ancient Mun River alluvium, dating approximately 16–0.01 million years ago. This site is renowned for its exceptional fossil mammal record, particularly its remains. Notably, the deposits have yielded 10 of the 55 known proboscidean genera worldwide. The site is the type of locality for newly described ancient mammal species.

3 Chaloe Phra Kiat Banyan Tree

A 200-year-old Banyan Tree, covering approx. 0.32 hectares near Mun River in Chaloe Phra Kiat District, is a vital ecological component. It provides essential habitat and shelter for various semi-aquatic birds and serves as a critical stopover site for migratory species.

4 Geopark Learning Center, Thachangratbamroong School

The school serves as a dedicated Geopark Learning Center. This facility promotes and educates the public, particularly students, about the area's geological and natural heritage, including ancient elephants. The center's curriculum integration plays a vital role in connecting students and the local community directly with conservation through hands-on learning.

2. Korat Way of Life and Historical Route

5

Chumphon Gate and Thao Suranaree Monument

The Chumphon Gate is one of the four original principal gates, constructed using red brick, laterite, and sandstone. It has been restored, maintaining its original architectural style and historical importance. Nearby, the Thao Suranaree Monument stands as a powerful symbol of courage and the spirit of Khorat.

6

Korat Museum

This museum documents and preserves the origins and history of Nakhon Ratchasima Province. The collection features a wide array of ancient artifacts, cultural objects, and community-donated items. A key focus is on demonstrating the relationship between these artifacts and the subsequent societal and economic transformations.

7

Phanom Wan Stone Sanctuary

The principal feature is a standing sandstone pagoda, dating from the 11th to 12th centuries. and built in the Khom architectural style. Originally a 10th-century brick pagoda, the sandstone sanctuary was made of local resources, primarily white and red sandstone.

8

Nam Cha Market

Located near the Lam Takhong River pier in Kham Thale Sor District, it offers a vibrant glimpse of traditional local life. Villagers gather to share, exchange, and sell products, including fresh produce and prepared foods. Don't miss the historical local delicacy, Mi Nam Cha, prepared specially on weekends.

2. Korat Way of Life and Historical Route (Cont.)

9 Pong Daeng Gravel pit

This significant geological site features excavated pits that reveal a history spanning 2.6 million years (Ma) to the present. The layers expose petrified trees from an ancient forest, with distinct layers of gravel and sand. These sedimentary layers document the geological changes.

10 Learning Center of Phan Dung Saline Soil Salt

Located at Pan Dung School, this Khorat Global Geopark educational facility highlights the history of Kham Talay Sor and traditional salt production. It uses an exhibition to highlight the history of Kham Talay Sor and traditional salt production, which stems directly from the region's unique saline soil geology and local wisdom.

11 Tourist Center and Phan Dung Salt Field

Known as Dern Gluea Phan Dung, an important Saline Soil field within Khorat Global Geopark, demonstrating ancient salt production. Brine naturally seeped up from the salty earth and was heated, often in earthenware pots, to produce crystalline salt. This salt was a vital commodity for consumption, medicine, and food preservation.

12 Roi rai Forest, Wat Pha Charoen Tham

This place is a peaceful, rural Buddhist temple, with simple living and meditation. A Roi rai (40-acre) forest around the temple has conserved, making it an ideal destination for visitors seeking a tranquil retreat, offering a unique opportunity for immersion in nature and restorative, mindful practice.

3. Khom-Dvaravati Sri Chanasa Civilization Route

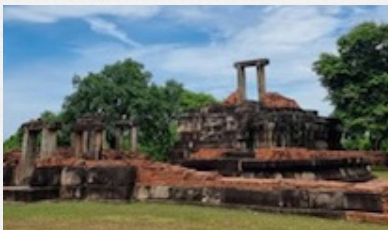

13 Sung Noen Railway Station Memorial

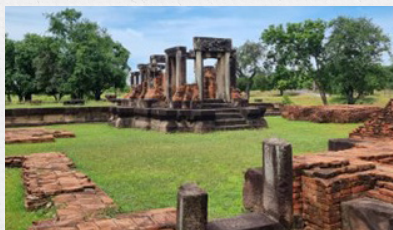

This site commemorates the completion of Thailand's first royal railway line, linking Bangkok and Nakhon Ratchasima (265 km, finished in 1900). The carefully preserved and renovated building now serves as a multi-purpose center. It is dedicated to Education, History, Tourism, Community Recreation, and Cultural Preservation.

14 Non Ku Stone Sanctuary

Located in Sung Noen District, Non Ku Stone Sanctuary is a significant ancient temple complex reflecting the region's rich history. Constructed primarily from sandstone and laterite, this sanctuary was likely built as a Hindu or Buddhist focal point to house deities or relics for the local community.

15 Mueang Khaek Stone Sanctuary

Prasat Mueang Khaek, located near Non-Ku Stone Sanctuary, is a significant remnant of the Khom civilization. Constructed from sandstone and brick, this sanctuary is generally dated to the 8th–10th centuries. It was built in the Shaivism tradition of Brahminism, providing key evidence of ancient regional influence.

16 Dvaravati Sandstone Reclining Buddha

This Reclining Buddha statue, constructed from large red sandstone blocks, is a significant artifact dated to over 1,300 years ago. Its style is a notable fusion of the Dvaravati artistic tradition with indigenous local art. Excavations also revealed a monolithic sandstone Dharma Wheel (Dharmachakra), distinctly carved with four interconnected wheels.

3. Khom-Dvaravati Sri Chanasa Civilization Route (Cont.)

17 Sema Historical City

Mueang Sema is an ancient city site defined by its unique, visible egg-shaped layout. The irregular city is structured into two layers—inner and outer—surrounded by a moat and earthen embankment, built using laterite and sandstone. Numerous historical sites dot the area, including a significant Reclining Buddha image in the southern sector.

18 Ban Somkob Ngam Sandstone Historical Quarry

Located 9 km north of ancient Sema, the Quarry features a natural stone terrace in the community forest. Fossils, including those resembling dinosaur bones, are embedded in the rock. Significant remnants of red sandstone cutting are evident, showcasing past human ingenuity in utilizing this resource to construct prominent cultural structures.

19 Mueang Kao Stone Sanctuary

Located in Sunghoen district, the Sanctuary functioned as an Arokayasala (hospital). Commissioned by King Jayavarman VII (c. 1181–1218 AD), this was one of 102 hospitals built during his reign. Constructed with laterite and sandstone, the site also includes a Baray (Sacred Pond), essential for the hospital's operation.

20 Bu Yai Stone Sanctuary

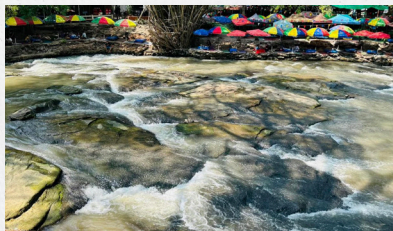

This Sanctuary is an 11th–13th centuries Khom ruin, currently undergoing excavation and restoration. The site features beautifully carved sandstone elements, including a surviving false door and an intact lintel depicting a lion and vegetal scrolls. Recent finds include a pristine Shiva linga.

4. Cuesta Route

21 Wang Nen Waterfall

Wang Nen features rocky rapids in the Lam Takhong River, creating a low cascade. The site offers natural pools suitable for swimming in a shady, tranquil atmosphere. With various riverside restaurants, it is ideal for relaxing under the trees and enjoying the fresh air.

23 Dong Ma Fai Coffee Community Enterprise

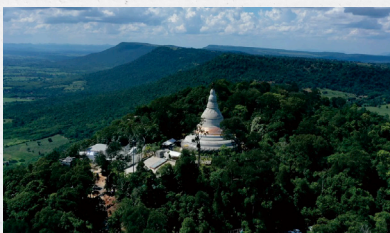

The enterprise cultivates Arabica on the CuestaHill Range, surrounded by dry evergreen forest; the unique geography imparts a mellow flavor and aromatic scent. This coffee naturally has a low 1% caffeine level.

22 Khao Sam Sib Saeng

This location, part of the Sung Noan National Forest Reserve, is managed by residents for natural resource conservation and as a vital watershed. Geographically, it features two hills with visible sandstone formations within the Korat Geopark's Phu Phan Cuesta landscape. The site also hosts a significant Learning Center for the Sufficiency Economy Philosophy based on Royal Initiatives.

24 Wat Pa Phu Pha Sung

This location is a Dharma practice temple situated in a dry evergreen forest atop the Khorat Cuesta (approx. 760 m ASL), established for forest and wildlife protection. The site features 160-million-year-old fossil burrows. It is home to the famous Phra That Jom Pha.

4. Cuesta Route (Cont.)

25 Sikhio Thai-Yuan Community

The community traces its ancestry to the original Thai Yuan inhabitants from Northern Thailand. They settled here, sustained by the Lam Takhong River. Their unique cultural capital includes attire, weaving, language, housing styles, and traditional beliefs.

27 Khao Chan Ngam Cave and Prehistoric Paintings

This location is a tranquil meditation retreat set on a hill characterized by sandstone boulders and cave overhangs. The serene site features 3,000-to 5,000-year-old rock paintings on a cliff shelter. Created with red pigment, the 12 groups of figures depict the lifestyle of former communities. The temple's unique setting among diverse flora and trees gives it both geological and cultural significance.

26 Sikhio Sandstone Historical Quarry

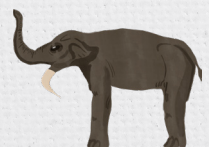

This ancient quarry provided the primary material for a stone sanctuary approximately 1,000 years ago. Visible evidence of historical extraction and carving is present on the sandstone mound, showing where rectangular blocks were cut. It also serves as an important geological site for students studying local sandstone and the area's geological setting.

28 EGAT Learning Center, Lam Takong

The center managed by EGAT is an educational hub focused on electricity and energy production. The facility features 7 dedicated zones covering a broad spectrum of generation methods, including fossil fuels, renewable sources, and the Wind Hydrogen Hybrid system. It is open Tuesday through Sunday.

4. Cuesta Route (Cont.)

29 Khao Yai Thiang Geoviewpoint

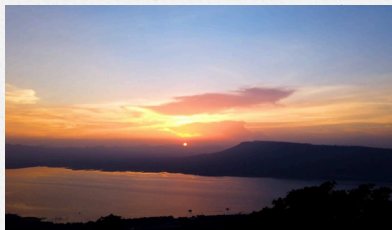

The geoviewpoint (approx. 650 m ASL), managed by EGAT, features a wind turbine field and a pumped storage reservoir. Known for its cool climate, it offers stunning views of the Lam Takhong Reservoir and the surrounding cuesta landscape. Visitors can rent bikes or use an electric shuttle to enjoy the beautiful natural scenery.

31 Plant Genetic Conservation Center, Khlong Phai

This center, under the Royal Initiative of HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn, applies the "King's Philosophy" to resource management. Its mission is to collect and preserve plant genetic resources and operate a training center. It aims to strengthen agricultural and community development through sustainable and organic practices, supporting school botanical gardens.

30 Yai Thiang Escarpment

This escarpment on the Khao Yai Thiang Ridge (approx. 650 m ASL) functions as a premier viewpoint. Visitors stop here to admire the striking natural scenery and fresh air. It offers clear views of the Lam Takhong Reservoir and the distinctive geological features of the Khorat Cuestas, highlighting the unique aspects of the Korat Geopark.

32 Khao Phrik Agricultural-Industrial Correctional Institution

This institution launched a new landmark project on the Royal Initiatives of HRH Princess Bajrakitiyabha Narendira Debyavati. The project uses an agricultural-industrial approach to teach inmates skills and Sufficiency Economy practices for post-release reintegration. As part of this, the "Cook & Coff@Khao Phrik" initiative features a restaurant and coffee shop.

4. Cuesta Route (Cont.)

33

Pong Nok Escarpment

Location is on cuesta ridge, offering strikingly beautiful panoramic views. It provides views of distant, undulating limestone ranges, highly regarded for sunsets and stargazing.

34

Sai Ngam Cliff

Located on the edge of the Khorat Geopark's cuesta ridge, this destination offers strikingly beautiful panoramic views of the community and undulating limestone ranges. It is an ideal retreat for visitors seeking immersion in nature and a tranquil escape.

35

Wat Wang Krasuai Pothole

Wat Wang Krasuai Pothole is located on the sandstone cuesta landscape, featuring numerous circular geological depressions called potholes. This common phenomenon occurs when rapid water flow spins trapped rocks, gravel, or sand within the sandstone layers. This abrasive action progressively erodes and deepens the basins, creating these distinctive features.
